Alma Mater is a female vocal ensemble created in 2011 by Belén Barnaus at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama drawing its members from both current and past students. The ensemble is very flexible and can adapt itself in size and in style to suit almost any occasion from liturgical music, part-songs, oratorio and opera to duets, trios, barbershop and gospel.

Alma Mater has performed in many churches around The City and made its Wigmore Hall debut this year on the occasion of Sarah Walker's 70th birthday concert. The ensemble took part in the LSO Song Guild Concert in St Luke's and performed in "The British Schubert" programme with Graham Johnson.
